Reflections

Weaving Threads to Strengthen the Fabric of Our Communities
An Intentional Conversation About Community Engagement
Reflections

Weaving Threads to Strengthen the Fabric of Our Communities

An Intentional Conversation About Community Engagement

DRI Press
Saint Paul, Minnesota
Table of Contents

Introduction .......................................................................................................................... 1

Bridging Divides: A View from the Minnesota State Office for Collaboration and Dispute Resolution .................................................. 5
   by Mariah Levison

“Who are you and why do you get to run the meeting?”
Reflections on Facilitator Identity and the Management of Complex Public Disputes ................................................................. 13
   by Toby Berkman and Danny Egol

Minnesota Government Recognizes Meaningful Civic Engagement as Means to Create a More Inclusive Stronger Democracy .................. 21
   by Kevin Lindsey

Evaluation of the Falcon Heights Community Conversations Process ........................................................................................................ 57
   by Elizabeth Dressel

An Interview with John Thompson: Community Activist and Community Conversation Participant .......................................................... 81
   by Sharon Press

Racially Diverse Community Conversations: Designing a Process that Includes All Voices ................................................................. 105
   by Jill Slipper Scholtz

Intentional Conversations Across Cultures: Utilizing Tribal-State Relations Training to Strengthen the Governmental Services to Indian and Non-Indian Minnesotans ......................................................... 115
   by Tadd Johnson, Rebecca St. George, and Joseph Bauerkemper

Recognizing and Supporting Natural Helpers of Welcome Dayton: A Non-Directive Approach .............................................................. 123
   by Tom Wahlrab

Lessons from Peace Processes for US Community Engagement ........................................................................................................ 131
   by Suzanne Ghais